

Project 2:

Consider a situation of your choice (interesting ideas are appreciated) involving a source, the propagation of the electromagnetic wave and a receiver. In general, this will involve a numerical integration of the source and the receiver. This project will be performed in groups of 2-4, which includes one report and one presentation per group. The presentation should not exceed 10 minutes.

